

Which Law was abolished by Christ?

Lesson 5

Christ did not give a new moral code. He was not a second lawgiver like Moses. He was far greater, and his moral teachings stand on a far higher plane than those of Moses. He was not so much concerned with laying down detailed rules for the regulation of the moral life, as with enunciating eternal principles by which humanity should govern their actions.

Christ did not give a new moral code, but He also did not say that the moral teachings of the Old Testament were suspended. The ceremonial and ritualistic laws of the Old Testament are cancelled for Christian, but not the Ten Commandments.

The ritual or ceremonial law was delivered to the children of Israel by Moses. This law contains all the injunctions and ordinances which related to the old sacrificial and services of the Temple. After the death of Jesus, these were abolished, but the Ten Commandments, He did not destroy or take away. (Matthew 5:17-19)

Understanding the fundamental truth of God's Commandments, it is my desire to love him and keep his Ten Commandments. Yes () No ()
